Report of the S. S. "Annette."

An account of the typhoon off Amoy Aug. 6—9th, 1864.

Left the Light ship in the river Yung-tze on 20th July Aug 2nd. Encountered strong gale from Southward which lasted till the 30th, during which time the ship was drifted 50 miles to Nrd.

Aug. 5th Light breeze from N. N. E. gradually freshening on the 6th, about noon barometer falling rapidly and bad weather evidently coming on. At 4 P.M. rounded ship to under close reefed main topsail. Between 7 & 8 P.M. the sky which appeared one dense black mass became suddenly of a bright red hue changing to purple and then to a dull lurid yellow giving to everything the most appalling appearance. The scene this moment was one mass of drift and foam and the wind blowing with terrific violence from Northward. Bar 28.85 still falling. At 8 P.M. the main topsails sheets were cut away to ease the ship and save the mast and yards the weather brace having previously carried away. The sail was immediately blown to shreds. One of the quarter boats was washed away whilst the ship was on her beam ends. The hurricane continued to rage with the greatest violence till about 3 A.M. (lowest Bar 28.80) on the morning of the 7th, when it lulled and stars appeared for nearly an hour. The wind hifted to N. W. and blew heavily, then gradually hauled to west, S. W. and South from whence it blew with equall force for some time taking off about midnight on the 8th. When the hurricane first struck the ship she was 30 miles east of Amoy and when the southerly gale took off she was then 15 miles North of Ockseu having drifted 60 miles to Nth. in three days. Since which time the Annette has experienced fine weather with light variable winds.

Passed many vessels in the Formosa Channel.— Also found the ship to have sprung a leak in the after compartment, damaging a quantity of stores.

From the Shanghae Daily News.

The Austrian barque Baron Kellner from Hongkong anchored at Woosung on Monday the 1st August reporting that on the 15th ultimo about 130 miles to the S.E. of Hongkong she encountered a strong easterly gale with heavy sea continuing for 48 hours, when it moderated, and on the 21st, in Lat. 21.43, Long. 116.23, experienced a terrible typhoon, commencing from the N. E., and veering to the S.S.E. with a heavy cross chopping sea the gale expended itself after blowing furiously for 24 hours. The lowest range barometer during the gale was 29.60. From that time to the 25th had exceedingly fine weather and when about 25 miles to the S. W. of the Pescadores, with a three knot breeze from the southward, observed six practical looking junks making towards the ship, forming two divisions, the first division being somewhat in advance of the second. The barque being deeply laden with coals, the junks were able to outrail her and soon came up with her, when within 100 yards of the vessel two out of the three foremost junks shortened sail, and allowed one junk to reach to windward. When first they were sighted each junk was pulling at least from forty to fifty oars, but only a dozen men on each junk were now visible. The windward junk attempted to come alongside, and made signs that they wished to speak, still making for the vessel. They were cautioned to keep at a respectful distance by the barque. The other two were, however, drawing up on the other side. No time was lost in firing a shot well ahead so as to intimidate them if possible, and the same manœuvre was repeated from a 12-pounder on the starboard side so as to check the other two junks. Their intention was evidently to board on both sides. They still came on, and boy work was expected. Finding that no notice was taken of the many cautions to them from the vessel, and the junks being by this time rather too close to be pleasant, being only about thirty yards from the ship, the 12-pounder was fired and struck the wind ward junk between wind and water which made her timbers crack. That shot seems to have saved the ship, yells rent the air, and in an instant the junk's decks were literally crowed with men. She then bore down towards the leeward junks the decks of which were also crowded. The three-masted schooner Yokohama, from Swatow bound to the Gulf of Pechili, hove in sight, and it was learned that the second division of junks which were closing on her fast, would attack her. A sharp musketry was kept up for a little time, but the sight of a second antagonist appeared to terrify them to that degree that they all hauled alongside the sinking junk and shaped their course for the land. The Yokohama remained in company during the whole of the night, with guns shotted and ready for any emergency, but nothing having occured during that time each vessel steered her course. Two days after, the Danish brig Flora Maria, from Copenhagen bound to the Amoor, was spoken and was informed that the Yokohama had engaged the same or a similar fleet of pirational junks on the previous morning with similar results. The Baron Kellner must have had a narrow escape, for had the fates decided against her, not one would have been left to tell the tale.

E. H. POLLARD, Esq.

The Scheme of a Local Bank for this Colony with Branches at the most important places in China, has been in contemplation for a very long period.

The local and foreign trade in Hongkong and at the open ports in China and Japan has increased so rapidly within the last few years that additional Banking facilities are felt to be required.

The Banks now in China being only branches of Corporations whose head quarters are in England or India, and which were formed chiefly with the view of carrying on exchange operations between those countries and China, are scarcely in a position to deal satisfactorily with the local trade which has become so much more extensive and varied than in former years.

This deficiency the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Company will supply, and will in fact assume the same position with relation to this Colony as the Presidency Banks in India, or the Banks of Australia in their respective localities.

The Establishment of a Mint in Hongkong, providing an adequate supply of proper currency, will render a local Banking medium essential to carry out its operations, and the almost certain disappearance of the existing Compradoric system (so far as money is concerned) will also ensure Banks becoming in course of time the exclusive medium for the transaction of the monetary operations connected with trade.

For the anticipated success of this enterprise there are therefore ample grounds; and the great prosperity which has attended the working of other local associations in China clearly shows that the largest profits are obtained by those Public Companies which possess an interested local body of Proprietors or Shareholders whose support naturally forms a chief element of remunerative success.

The Bank will commence operations simultaneously in Hongkong and Shanghai and as the importance of its business at the latter place must be very great, it is intended to establish a local Board of Directors there for more effectually managing the work. At circumstances render it advisable the Bank will establish Branches at other places.

In the distribution of Shares Hongkong and Shanghai will equally participate. Shares will also be reserved for the other ports in China and Japan and for persons residing elsewhere, who are directly interested in the China Trade.

Applications for Shares must be addressed until further notice, to the Provisional Committee, care of:

M. J. DEFRIES.

Hongkong 13th August, 1864.

NEW AND INFALLIBLE METHOD

Treatment instantaneous and radical cure of Corns and other excrescences of the Feet.

F. M. DEFRIES.

Chiropodist of the Imperial Houses of France and Brazil.

Having arrived on a professional visit to this Colony, can be consulted every day, between the hours of 10 A.M. and 4 P.M. at the Residence lately occupied by Dr. L. PEBAQUE Surgeon Dentist, 6 doors North of the American Consulate, Wyndham Street.

Through the means of a new process, Mr. Defries expels the corns from the feet, as also any excrescences on the soles of the feet, without cutting them or in any way puncturing the flesh.

He possesses an Elixir of his own invention, which stands preeminent in its efficacy for curing corns even should they have suppurated.

Mr. Defries operates without causing the smallest pain to the patient, who on the completion of the operation can wear a tight shoe without a special inconvenience to the spot whence the corn may have been extracted.

Mr. Defries possesses a vast number of testimonials of the highest class, which are at the service of the public for inspection. He hops that his method may not be confused with that of other Chiropodists. His stay here will be only one month, and he will attend the residence of any patients who may require his professional services.

Wyndham Street
Hongkong, 13th August, 1864.

ATTENTION!!

THE having come to my knowledge through a letter I have just received from Whampoa, that there are at present at that place certain Chinese dressed in European costume, who are said to be kidnapping their countrymen as coolies for the Macao barracoons, using my name as the party for whose account the trade is being carried on, I deem it my duty to make it known that I have no connection either direct or indirect with these men nor with such others that may use my name as the party therein interested, for, as it is quite notorious, I never have taken an interest in the Coolie trade as being entirely opposed to my principle.

I have also to add that the most effective means have been adopted for the apprehension and conviction of the culprits.

HONGKONG, 15TH AUGUST, 1864.

NOTWITHSTANDING the wretched weather the Christy Minstrels on Saturday evening had a very full house. The performance was given under the patronage of the Parsee community of whom there was a great number present. As usual the audience seemed highly delighted with the performances, judging from the rapturous applause and shouts of laughter.

The next entertainment is fixed for to-morrow evening, and is under the patronage of the Commandant, Officers and Members of the Volunteers. We see that Capt. Brine has in the orders for the week expressed a hope that the corps will muster in full force on the occasion.

THE drain, which by bursting above Mosque Terrace did so much damage to property about two months since, having been patched up, as we predicted burst again yesterday in several places in Peel Street, and the torrent swept down the hill carrying every thing before it. The same houses in Peel Street whose foundations appeared to be getting undermined on the former occasion are now being threatened from the other side. Captain Heaton's bungalow, the houses in Elgin Terrace and the Oriental Hotel are fortunately spared this time.

WE fear that the prospect of an early and satisfactory solution of our difficulties with Japan, is rather slight. The Daimios and the Government are so dishonest, deceitful and subtle, that it is impossible to arrive at any correct conclusion as to either their intentions or their proceedings. If there be any European capable of diplomatising with them, it is Sir Rutherford Alcock, and he has latterly evidently had the whip hand of them; but we must say we see indications of the Tycoon's government kicking over the traces which have hitherto bound them to the basis laid down and agreed upon.

It is not as though the British Plenipotentiary had to proceed in a straight-forward manner for the purpose of enforcing treaty rights by the means placed at his disposal. He is compelled by imperative instructions, as well as by his own political convictions, to uphold the government of the Tycoon, lest by subverting it, or by impairing its integrity, he should give rise to anarchy. Consequently he is obliged to accept as truth, pretexts from the Gorogio which he well knows to be fictious. Until the Gorogio take up a defiant attitude and absolutely refuse of their own motion to carry out the treaty, the policy of upholding the Government of the Tycoon will be continued. The danger lies in this—after Sir Rutherford shall have worn the Gorogio out, and there shall remain no other mode of withholding treaty rights, will the Tycoon brave the attempt to dishonour the admission of foreigners into the country? That is to say, how far will he presume on the forbearance which dictates the policy of our maintaining his authority lest anarchy should supersede?

As for the reports current at Yokohama pr the designs, the intentions, and the movements of the various political parties which now agitate Japan, they are the veriest trash conceivable. The Government of the Tycoon is a feudal one—that there can be no doubt about; and we believe it to be generally admitted, that one of the objections which the more powerful of the Daimios have to the present system under which foreign trade is conducted, is that the revenues of the Tycoon become largely increased, and his power correspondingly enhanced. We think it more than likely, that these perpetual stoppages of trade which we hear so much about, are sometimes caused by the Daimios, in whose principalities the produce is grown, holding out, either for a share of the Tycoon's royalties thereupon, or otherwise by resisting inland dues which may be levied at certain stations.

In fact it is alleged by some, with a fair degree of probability, that the resistance of the powerful Daimios to the present state of affairs arises from not having ports of trade open in their respective principalities. It appears to be undoubted that this was one of the Prince of Satsuma's grievances, and there is no question that he made overtures years ago to an eminent British firm in the hope of inducing them to send a vessel to Kagosima to open trade there.

The idea however must not be run away with that if ports were open to foreign trade in the principalities of the Daimio princes, the objection to the admission of foreigners into the country would be got over. We think it may be taken as an axiom, that there is a deep rooted aversion, a powerful suspicion in the minds of Daimios and their retainers against the admission of the foreign element into the country, and we believe there is no doubt that this suspicion and this aversion are based on the natural conviction that the admission of foreigners would cause the dissemination of wealth, of intelligence, of ideas of personal rights and freedom, and would result in the elevation of the mercantile and lower classes. The natural effect of such a state of things, it needs no ghost to tell us, would be to create a middle class which would not only be sufficiently potent to protect itself, but would form a bulwark to the class below it.

Such a result would entirely subvert the present order of things. The Daimios and their retainers oppress the people shamefully, and the people submit for the same reason that a horse submits—namely, because they know not their strength.

Satsuma may be an exception to the other anti-foreign Daimios. He has large maritime possessions and he is addicted to trade. He is an enigma. His father's retinue killed Mr Richardson on the Tokaido, and when Admiral Kuper demanded recompense and satisfaction, Satsuma justified the outrage, he must sympathise to the fullest extent with the anti-foreign aspirations of his fellows.

But he submitted to be thrashed at Kagosima, he yielded to the indignity if seeing three of his steamers burnt before his eyes, and he even kissed the rod which smote him by paying the pecuniary indemnity demanded.

But whilst he was thus appearing in sackcloth and ashes, he employed his trusty agent Mr. Walsh to purchase the steamer Scotland laden with heavy guns. The venture must have cost him some $200,000. That surely looks as though his had sinister designs.

Since then he has advocated the repeal of the law prohibiting emigration, and he has threatened, whether it be repealed or not, to send his two sons to Europe to be educated. That appears an enlightened and a sensible move, but looking at the Prince's antecedents, can any one suppose for one moment that his object is to establish satisfactory relations between foreigners and his own go-

We should say that the Prince ent to see that the art of war in Europe, and that he de- on by his sons should be the ng the advance of foreigners it may be that he seeks to w for the purpose of revolt- ver of the Tycoon.

Also the Prince of Nagato, y makes the following start- ing ... ent.

Our advices from Japan are to the 25th of July. Two Japanese Ambassadors have arrived there by the mail steamer, they were dressed as Europeans. They had been three months in England and said they had been sent there by their master, the Prince of NAGATO. What transpired between them and the British Minister is not known, but the Barossa and the Cormorant were ordered to get up steam and proceed to the Straits of Shimonoseki, with the two men on board, in order to land them there. It is singular that they should have arrived at such a moment, and conjectures are rife. All will doubtless be explained when the vessels return. An Engineer officer accompanies them, as well as some French and Dutch officers.

We consider this entitled to every credence. That the British fleet were about to start from the bay of Yeddo to attack Nagato's fortifications in the Straits of Simonoseki, at the "moment" our contemporary refers to, we all well know. That the two vessels of war he names were suddenly detached from the fleet and sent to the Straits if Simonoseki with two Japanese officials on board, is a fact patent to all. We thought these officials were emissaries of the Gorogio, sent with the view of inducing Nagato to yield, but our contemporary's report is so circumstantial, that it can only be doubted by being condemned as a vile canard, which we cannot suppose possible. Foreign officers accompanied them it appears.

This makes the Prince of Nagato an enigma too. His object in blockading the inland sea may be to coerce the Tycoon, or even the Prince of Satsuma, to the admission of certain feudal privileges to which he may deem himself entitled; for it should be remembered that the Prince of Nagato not only establishes the blockade against foreign vessels, but against native craft also. If those emissaries of his really were in England, they must have been in communication with the Japanese ambassadors at Paris; and as the latter stipulated with the Emperor of the French to remove Nagato's obstructions in the straits of Simonoseki, his emissaries may have been urged to return speedily to Japan, and tell their master if he did not come to terms, that he would have the French on his back as well as the English.

But to return to the Tycoon's government. We maintain that that is also an enigma—persistent and impenetrable. The policy pursued by Sir Rutherford Alcock, is as we have said, to sustain the Tycoon; and in order to effect this, the pretexts urged by the Gorogio for the nonfulfilment of the treaty, have to be received as gospel.

The sum and substance of these pretexts amount simply to the physical inability of the Gorogio, and to the constitutional anti-foreign proclivities of the Daimios. The Gorogio say that they have not even the power to prevent the recusant Daimios from slaying all the foreigners at Yokohama; and that as for such powerful Princes as Nagato and Satsuma, they are in fact independent in their own principalities and entirely beyond control. Sir Rutherford Alcock takes this ground—as for the safety of foreigners at Yokohama, we will see to that, and as for the powerful Daimio princes, we will resent any injury they may do us.

The first idea as to the result of such diplomacy is, that the powerful Daimio princes would be humbled, and that the Tycoon, instead of being the nominal chief of the feudal nobles, must become actually their master. And in this view of the case, one might suppose that the Tycoon would cooperate with us, and thus extricate himself from the dilemma. But such a conclusion, circumstances indicate is unwarrantable. Until this foreign question arose, he held half the families of the Daimios at Yedo, as hostages for their fealty. Why was this security given up? Then again the simulated impotence in averting any of the numerous assassinations, and the obstructiveness in bringing the guilty to justice. Then this embassy to Paris to buy off the French. Then the purchase of half a million dollars worth of arms &c. by the ambassadors sent to Paris. Then the enormous purchases of fire arms, especially rifles, which have been made at Yokohama from the Germans during the last twelve months. Then the construction of three war steamers at New York, one of which has been launched we observe.

True all these may be to strengthen the Tycoon by the time his struggle with the Daimios may come, but we see no indication of such a contingency.—We judge the Tycoon to be as anti-foreign in his aspirations, as any other Daimio—and that all Japanese of the upper class hate foreigners cordially, viewing them precisely in the same category as Demetrius of Ephesus viewed the disciples.

Moreover, seeing all these preparations and arrangements, we fear the day is not far distant, when the Tycoon will openly join the Daimios, and take up arms against us.

ACCIDENTS AND OFFENCES.

AN ADJOURNED INQUIRY—into the circumstances which led to the death of Captain Allen late master of the ship James Booth was held on Saturday at the magistracy before Chas. May Esq. Coroner.

Dr. W. S. Adams, resident Surgeon to the Seamen's Hospital; who had for some time previous to the day of his death attended the deceased, gave evidence to the effect that he arrived on board the vessel about an hour (so he was told by Capt. Williams) after the death of deceased, whom he found sitting in a chair in the cabin. The neck did not appear to be broken, nor could any smell of opium be detected by witness. He was of opinion that deceased had not taken laudanum, but was unable to assign a cause of death. Had the neck been dislocated the head would not have rolled about, in consequence of the rigidity of the muscles, the neck might therefore have been broken without his detecting it.

The second mate deposed that Captain Williams had told him about 4 o'clock that Capt. Allen was taken very bad, and he must send for a doctor. Witness then looked at deceased and his face was black and bluish and he was breathing very hard; ten minutes afterwards saw that he was dead. There was great difficulty in getting the body on deck as the staircase was narrow and had three turns in it; when on deck, he and another man tried to put a clean shirt on the body, in doing which the man who was assisting witness let the head fall and he heard a "crack," and afterwards witness saw that the head rolled about a great deal; thought that it was at that time that the neck became broken.

It appeared from former evidence adduced that the unfortunate man had taken a passage in the "General Windham" and was going to sail in her the following day.

The jury returned a verdict to the effect that deceased was found dead but that there was not sufficient evidence to show what was the cause of death.

ANOTHER INQUEST was held at the same place at 5 o'clock, on view of the body of Abdool Hussim, a clerk in the firm of Messrs. Shaik Dawood & Co. Gage Street.

It appeared that the deceased heard some time ago of the death of his father, and this seemed to have preyed on his mind, he having been in a melancholy mood since then. He was found dead on Friday at night taken a quantity of opium.

The verdict returned was that deceased destroyed himself while in a state of temporary insanity.

A man has been seized by the police being charged by a Mandarin who has come to Hongkong for the purpose, with being concerned in an extensive robbery near Canton.

The case is remanded to Saturday next.

NEW MEDICINE!

THE GREATEST SUCCESS OF THE AGE!!!

NO MORE COD-LIVER OIL. SYRUP OF IODIZED HOUSE-RADISH of Chemistry and Co., Apothecaries and chemists, 7, Rue de la Feuillade, Paris. According to the certificates of the physicians of the Paris Hospitals, detailed in the prospectus, and with the approbation of several Academies, this Syrup is employed with the greatest success in place of Cod-liver Oil, of which it is really superior. It cures diseases of the chest, scrofula, lymphatic disorders, green sickness, muscular atony, and loss of appetite, at regenerates the constitution by purifying the Blood, and is, in a word the most powerful depurative known. It never fatigues the stomach and bowels like the iodide of potassium and the iodide of iron, and is administered with the greatest efficacy to young children subject to humours, or obstruction of the glands. Dr. CAZENAVE, of Saint Louis hospital, Paris, recommends it particularly in cutaneous dis- ... with the title which bear his name.

PHOSPHATE OF IRON, DE LERAS, apothecary, doctor of science, 7, Rue de la Feuillade, Paris.—This new ferruginous medicine contains the elements of the bones and blood, and iron in a liquid state. From observations made in the Paris hospitals and detailed in the prospectus, it is superior to ferruginous pills, lactate of iron, iron reduced by hydrogen, pills and syrup of the iodide of iron, and cures rapidly, stomach complaints, painful digestion, poverty of the blood, want of strength and appetite, and the diseases inherent to females. It is the best adjunct to Cod-Liver Oil, and the best preserver health in tropical climates.

ELIXIR OF PEPSINE prepared by GRIMAULT and CO., chemists, 7, Rue de la Feuillade, Paris, according to the formula of Dr. CONVISART, knight of the Legion of Honour, physician to H.M. the Emperor of the French. PEPSINE is the gastric juice itself, or rather the digestive principle purified, which digests food in the stomach. When from various causes the supply of the digestive fluid is too small, the inevitable consequences are bad digestion, gastritis, gastralgia, inflammation of the mucous coats of the stomach and bowels, heartburn, anæmia, loss of strength, and in females, general derangement. The elixir of Pepsine, which is sanctioned by the approbation of the Paris Academy of Medicine, speedily cures all such diseases, and prevents vomiting during pregnancy.

INTERNAL OR LOCAL
NEW CURATIVE AGENT.
